Bio For: Stanley J. Leffew

Stanley J. Leffew enjoys family life with his wife and their two children in Sugar Land, Texas. He has been writing successfully for years. His unique flare for words has launched his writings into international acceptance as great resources for relationship enrichment and for showing the value of longevity in relationships.

He is the Author of two e-books. His first e-book, How To Be Wanted For a Lifetime of Nights and Not Just a Night of a Lifetime, helps people identify misconceptions about the body, sex, love and relationships. It also explains why chasing the desires of the body has many living for the moment in life, but missing the lifetime. His second e-book, Beauty Also Wears Clothes, provides 101 Reflections On Becoming What Others LOOK FOR In Life and Relationships, Not Just What They LOOK AT.

He is a freelance writer and a regular contributor to the “Family Matters” section of Family Living Magazine. Family Living Magazine focuses on strengthening and helping families become thriving assets in the community and in the world.

Honored with recognition as a, “Platinum E-zine Articles Expert,” his articles have been circulated for their content in e-zines, showcased on thousands of websites and published in e-books along with the writings of several other relationship enrichment authors.
